

Oil-Dri Announces Price Increases for its Sports Field Products

March 9, 2022 9:48 PM EST

CHICAGO, March 09, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Oil-Dri Corporation of America (NYSE: ODC) today announced that it will implement price increases for its sports field products, effective April 1, 2022.

Pricing actions are necessary as the Company continues to face significant inflation across many key cost inputs, including packaging, materials, natural gas, and non-fuel manufacturing costs.

"In order to continue our commitment to delivering high quality products to our customers, we must raise prices to relieve some of the pressure caused by current inflationary headwinds," said Daniel S. Jaffee, President and Chief Executive Officer. "These price adjustments will contribute to the Company's efforts to rebuild margins to historical levels."

Pro's Choice sales representatives will communicate additional details of the price increase to their customers directly.
